The Guide to
Seed Treatment Stewardship

What is The Guide to Seed Treatment Stewardship?

An industry-wide initiative to educate seed companies and growers about the safe handling and management of treated seed.

A response to concerns about the potential environmental impact of seed treatments.

An all-in-one online guide with links to valuable resources.

A "living document" to address seed technology advances as they impact the seed and crop production value chain.

A joint product of the American Seed Trade Association and Croplife America – endorsed by the National Corn Growers Association, the Farm Bureau and the American Soybean Association.

Important information for you to share with your customers.

www.seed-treatment-guide.com